BRITISH ARMY FORGES PAST BENGASI PORT

Flies Report Rommel Has Attempted To Block Harbor from Use.

By The Associated Press
Nov. 19—Vanguards of the British Eighth army have reached a point about 50 miles south of Bengasi and 15 miles from the eastern shore of the Gulf of Sirte, according to the main dispatch from Bengasi and Tripoli.

It was disclosed today that the British forces apparently were in the area of the British Eighth army. The communication they had made contact with the British Eighth army south of Bengasi and the British Eighth army had been in the area of the British Eighth army.

Near Antelat
The British Eighth army placed the British Eighth army in the area of the British Eighth army. The British Eighth army placed the British Eighth army in the area of the British Eighth army.

Transport Hard Hit
The weight of the main allied attack, however, was against the transport planes flying from Bengasi toward the Italian region where Rommel was trying to make a stand.

NEW CITY FIRE TRUCK ARRIVES

Delivered by Prospect Company; Will Provide City-wide Service.

A massive new fire truck, somewhat similar to the one delivered to the city a year ago, was brought to Marion yesterday by the Hanley Engineering Service of Prospect. It was delivered to the Central fire station on South Prospect street but will not become an official part of the city's firefighting equipment until formally accepted by the city board of control and until its tests have been approved by the Ohio rating bureau, representing fire insurance underwriters.

When the new truck goes into service, it will work many changes in the department's operation. Its crew will be known as company No. 4 of the city fire department, and it will be used to cover the entire city. Chief T. J. McFarland said it will be used on virtually every fire call. In most instances in conjunction with one of the other companies.

The truck is the companion of the one delivered a year ago—both were ordered at the same time under a program to modernize the department. As part of the same project, the department's fire alarm system was largely replaced.

Four-Way Service
Four important functions performed by the new truck make it known among firefighters as a quadruple combination unit. It serves as a ladder unit, hose unit, a pumper and a booster unit.

As a ladder unit, it carries 240 feet of aluminum (pre-war stuff) ladders in sections that permit assembling up to 50 feet in length. These won't reach some of the heights covered by the aerial wagon, but will make it unnecessary to send the aerial wagon or "hook and ladder" truck out of the Central station excepting on fires where tall structures are involved.

It carries a wealth of hose—1,200 feet of two and one-half inch size, 200 feet of 1½ inch and 200 feet of 1-inch hose.

DEFEAT DELAYS JAP ATTACK

Naval Experts Declare It Will Take Enemy Three Weeks To Prepare Again.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—It will take the Japanese at least three weeks and possibly longer to pull themselves together for another try at Guadalcanal. That was the considered opinion of naval experts today after a detailed analysis of staggering losses in ships, men and equipment suffered by the enemy in last week's rout.

These authorities, who asked to remain anonymous, were interested in the Japanese but not unduly excited by the appearance of eight Japanese destroyers off the north coast of New Guinea yesterday. They said it was to be expected that enemy task forces would be encountered from time to time.

The forces will give United States the opportunity to replace their relatively small losses and build up their strength for what Secretary Knox already has labeled round 3 (coming up) of the battle for the Solomons.

In fact, it would not be surprising to many informed persons here if the Marine and Army troops on Guadalcanal took aggressive advantage of the enemy's predicament to improve their own positions which still encompass only a small area of land about the airport on the north coast of the island.

The last report on land fighting on Guadalcanal, covering activities of Nov. 10, said the United States troops were conducting offensive operations on both the eastern and western flanks. The failure of the Japanese, already outnumbered, to land any considerable reinforcements would seem to leave their forces open to attack, especially since it will be difficult if not impossible for them to obtain substantial supplies for some time to come.

The effect on future operations of the blow dealt the Japanese at sea, as naval men here estimate it, must be measured not only in ships sunk but also in men and materials lost. Eleven warships and eight transports were sunk and four cargo vessels which the Japs had beached were destroyed after the battle. Seven warships were damaged.

ALLIED ARMIES CLOSE IN ON AXIS FORCES

Three Tough Armies Converge To Clean Out Nazis and Italians from Africa.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Nov. 19—Three of the toughest armies assembled by the United Nations since the start of the war converged on the Bizerte-Tripoli-Bengasi triangle today in fighting contact with axis forces while allied planes and parachute troops built up air power in preparation for the final assault to wipe the Germans and Italians in North Africa.

As the Americans and British squeezed the last axis foothold from east and west, a motorized column of Fighting French was reported driving up from the Lake Chad base 1,200 miles to the south to put the Lorraine cross of fighting France into the battle along with the tricolor of French North African garrisons which have joined with the allies.

Sweeping back outlying axis patrols, Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's First army—the Veterans of Fluiders—drove on into Tunisia from Algeria at several points in a sweep intended to trap and crush the German-Italian airborne army reported digging in at Tunis, the capital, and Bizerte, the big naval base, against protracted French resistance.

Mr. Troops Seize Fields
Leaping ahead of Anderson's ground forces, American and British paratroopers were seizing vital airfields for use by follow-up units of the United States Army air forces and the RAF which already were gunning their way through the axis aerial screen.

While American and British forces edged nearer Tripoli from Algeria and Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army maintained its advance from Egypt, Reuters quoted a Cairo dispatch broadcast by the Algiers radio as saying that an allied force "of considerable strength" was moving north into the Libyan desert from the Fighting French bases on Lake Chad.

The Morocco radio said only about 940 miles separated a motorized column from Lake Chad and the allied force of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson pushing eastward through Tunisia.

There was no confirmation of this in authoritative London circles, but British observers previously noted that such an assault was possible from Lake Chad, in French equatorial Africa some 1,200 miles south of the Mediterranean.

Urgent Call for Volunteers Made by Gas Ration Officials

More Workers Needed To Handle Supplemental Registration; 3,200 in City Get "A" Cards First Day.

The critical need of all volunteers who have signed up to help with the supplemental gasoline registration reporting next week on the days and at the time they designated was emphasized today by the Marion county rationing board.

"The situation is quite serious," Edgar W. Barnhart, chairman of the board, said this morning. "We must have the volunteers and if we don't have enough of them, people who really need 'B' and 'C' cards won't get the gasoline when rationing goes into effect on Dec. 1."

Nearly 3,200 persons made application for the basic "A" cards yesterday in the first day of the basic registration in the city's three junior high schools.

On an estimate of 15,000 passenger cars in the county, of which 10,000 are in Marion city, the first day brought in nearly one-third of the prospective applicants.

Rationing board officials today reiterated that all owners of passenger cars and motorcycles must have the basic card before they may apply for the supplemental ration.

They also urged that persons making application for the "A" cards have their application blanks filled out and ready to present at the school and that they go to the school in the district in which they live.

The junior high schools, Central, Thomas A. Edison and Vernon Heights, will be open until 9 p. m. on Friday. Through a misprint it was announced in yesterday's Star that the schools would close at 8 p. m.

County centralized schools will be open from 8 to 9 p. m. on Friday will be the last day to make application for the basic card.

Supplemental Sign-up
The supplemental registration will start next Monday noon at the Star auditorium on North State street and will continue throughout the week, except Thanksgiving day on Thursday.

The volunteers will work in shifts from 12 noon till 3:30 p. m. and from 5:30 to 9 p. m. Monday there will be brief schools of instruction at 12 noon and 5:30 p. m. for these volunteers who could not attend the mass instruction meeting Tuesday night.

Approximately 400 men and women have volunteered and a meeting called to erect bars against shortage.

Two representatives from the office of price administration at Columbus, Clarence Henry and Philip Eckert, will meet with the directors of the Marion Milk Producers association and the milk distributors of the county Monday night at 8 o'clock in the common pleas courtroom for the purpose of discussing the milk situation in the county and working out some plan whereby a threatened milk shortage in this area may be averted.

While there is no shortage at present, the increased demand for milk during the winter months, together with the development of a situation, Elmer A. Williams, president of the Milk Producers association, said today.

The shortage of farm help and other wartime conditions have caused dairymen and farmers to sell many of their dairy herds and cows during the recent weeks and this combined with the unusually large demand for milk will in time result in a shortage of dairy products in this area, Mr. Williams points out.

The purpose of the meeting Monday night is to prevent such a situation, Mr. Williams states.

FRENCH START NORTH FROM CHAD REGION

Rommel's Army and Tunisia Garrisons Face Assault from Four Columns.

By The Associated Press
Across 1,800 miles of arid desert, fighting French columns from Lake Chad were reported driving toward the "back door" of Italian Tripolitania today as part of a four-way squeeze on axis forces in North Africa while American and British troops struck deeper into Tunisia.

Lake Chad is in the heart of French Equatorial Africa, about 1,200 miles south of the Mediterranean.

Other allied forces were converging against the last axis strongholds on the dark continent as follows:

1. A powerful British-American expeditionary force estimated at 150,000 troops was thrusting into northern Tunisia along the Mediterranean coast from Algiers.

2. A second column was reported to have entered southern Tunisia from Algeria in a move to cut across the axis-held French protectorate and cut the road to Tripolitania.

3. Coupled with these drives from the west, the British 8th army from Egypt was rapidly pursuing Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken Africa corps across Libya toward Tripolitania.

Rattle Near Guard
British imperial headquarters reported today that vanguard troops of the 8th army were in contact yesterday with the retreating axis south of Bengasi after an advance of more than 70 miles in 24 hours.

Bengasi is approximately 100 miles northeast of El Agheila, on the base of the Libyan hump, where Marshal Rommel is expected to attempt a last-ditch stand in the narrow corridor between boggy salt marshes and the sea.

The British communiqué did not state whether Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's triumphant armies had captured or by-passed Bengasi, one of a major port of supply for Rommel's Africa corps.

It seemed probable, however, that Rommel was abandoning the port in his headlong flight toward El Agheila.

On the western flank of the axis held "vase," Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters reported that the first phase of the battle for strategic Tunisia, buffer state between Algeria and Tripolitania, had begun.

Without detail, dispatches said allied paratroops had occupied several strategic places.

Nicote Raided
American Flying Fortress of Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's command pounded the axis-held naval base at Bizerte in a daylight raid, setting off tanks ablaze, exploding ammunition dumps and wrecking grounded planes, while other allied bombers attacked the axis airbase at Tunis.

Bizerte and Tunis, the capital, are main bases for the arrival of axis air-borne reinforcements.

Meanwhile, in the face of bad news everywhere in the North African theater, axis propagandists sought comfort in fantastic stories of allied losses.

Thus the Nazi-controlled Vichy radio declared that 30 damaged British warships and merchantmen had arrived at Gibraltar and landed dead and wounded; while the Rome radio reported the large U. S. transport crowded with troops "has just been sunk off Casablanca."

HOW TO BUILD IN WINTER WITH CONCRETE

You needn't wait 'til spring to do farm concrete work. Valuable winter production aids such as labor-saving barn floors, sanitary farrowing floors and other inside jobs are easily protected from the weather. Precast, watertight troughs can be built in the barn. Foundations can be trenchered, filled with straw to keep out frost, and concrete placed anytime the weather is above freezing.

The necessary precautions for winter concreting are simple. Write for free instructions and plan now to make repairs and improvements as weather permits. Concrete materials are widely available. Reinforcing steel seldom needed.

CHECKUP SHOWS 78 SOLDIERS CAST VOTES

115 in Marion County Asked for Nov. 3 Ballots.

Of the 115 absent voters ballots forwarded to Marion men serving with the armed forces 78, or all but 37, were returned according to records of the county board of elections. Of the 37 not returned five were forwarded to Arizona. Others also had to be forwarded a great distance and since the ballots were not received here for distribution to service men until Oct. 29 many did not reach their destination before election. The ballots were sent out at a cost of 24 cents each.

According to an Associated Press dispatch Secretary of State John E. Sweeney is asking all county election boards to report the number of absent votes received from service men and the cost of handling them.

The information is needed, the dispatch stated, to obtain refunds from the federal government for part of the expense. Applications for absent-voter ballots are being received by the secretary of state from overseas soldiers.

the axis? Now that the Vichy regime is liquidated, the greatest obstacle to that union is to put it frankly, an unreasoning prejudice against Gen. de Gaulle on the part of certain of our officials. This prejudice must be wiped off the slate. For while Gen. de Gaulle has made mistakes, he is one of the historic figures of our generation.

I will say that if we had not been so standoffish about him, we should have known more clearly and accurately than we did know what Gen. Eisenhower would find when he got to Africa.

East Faces Another Cut in Gas Allowance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Uncle Sam is going to hold back more gasoline from the basic ration allowances in the east to help make certain that American war machines in Africa keep rolling.

Acknowledging that "this cut is going to hurt," but that it is absolutely essential, the office of price administration announced last night that beginning Nov. 22 an "A" coupon will be worth four in 16 of the 17 states now rationed. The exception is West Virginia.

The order will not affect the rest of the nation where gasoline rationing begins Dec. 1 nor will it alter the value of the "B" and "C" coupons.

The cut is designed to save about 20,000 barrels of gasoline a day in the east.

Arcodel Bus Drivers End Threat of Strike

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18 — Drivers of the Arcodel bus system called off a strike scheduled for last night and agreed to submit the dispute to an arbitration board.

R. L. Jacobs, Arcodel official who announced the agreement following a conference of representatives of the company and the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Operators of America, said the dispute had threatened operations on the firm's southeastern Ohio lines.

Jacobs said union officials had notified him the strike would be called unless the company agreed to retire an employee discharged three weeks ago on grounds of inefficiency and carelessness.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you uneasy, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 quarts a day. If the millions of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent urination, passing urine with a strong and burning sensation shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait until you are dragged to the doctor's office. Get your kidneys cleaned out with a course of 15 days of kidney tubes. Each tube pulls out poisons from the blood. Get Dr. Frank's Kidney Tubes.

Bowling TWO GRANTED CITIZENSHIP

Natives of Scotland and Greece Take Oaths in Marion Examination.

Two men were admitted to United States citizenship Wednesday in an examination conducted by Robert J. Scotland of Columbus, acting naturalization examiner.

They are Andrew Dobie, 555 Cherry street, who was born at Killybeggie, Scotland, and Pericles Stenistatidis of 222 West Center street, a native of Greece. Both said they are willing to take up arms in defense of the country and that they are buying war stamps and bonds.

The men were examined separately and after they were accepted by Mr. Scotland, they were given the oath of allegiance and taken to the United States by Mr. Smith.

Judge Young addressed them briefly, in part, as follows:

"You are coming in at a time when we are at war and citizenship really puts some responsibility on you. I believe from what I have seen you will bear these responsibilities and be true American citizens. At this time we have a special responsibility to our government, a physical, mental, moral and financial responsibility to uphold our government."

"If this war is lost by the United States democracy as a form of government will vanish from this earth. Try to maintain the form of government you have joined by voluntary choice. I hope and I think you will realize and assume the responsibility of the citizenship you have acquired this day by your oath."

Flags Presented

Mrs. Clarence L. Rutherford, regent of Captain William Henderson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. A. W. Bacon of the chapter, presented the new citizens with American flags and citizenship manuals.

In the audience were friends and relatives of the men and a representative of the Marion County Bar association.

Wednesday morning seven petitions for naturalization were filed with Mr. Scotland.

Kentucky appeared to have demonstrated that today as southern Democrats are over his insistence on bringing up the anti-poll tax bill began cooling.

Despite much behind-the-scenes grumbling, Barkley's soft answers to the indignation outpourings of southern Democrats evidently averted any serious move to censure him on his toes as majority leader.

Chinese Predict New Jap Drive from Burma

By The Associated Press
CHUNGKING, Nov. 18 — A Chinese army spokesman reported today there were indications the Japanese were preparing to drive into Yunnan province, southwest China, from French Indo-China.

This thrust, he said, would be coordinated with one from the section of Yunnan province adjacent to Burma which the Japanese occupied last spring. They have been stationary there since May.

The spokesman said the Japanese recently secretly increased their strength in Yunnan by 12,000 men, and at the same time bolstered their air forces at Wanching and other air fields in the occupied border region.

He said reports received here say that the Japanese stock in hand in northern and southern Burma for military purposes and suspended all civilian passenger traffic.

SEES BETTER WORLD IN POST-WAR ERA

President Points Way for Improvement.

By The Associated Press
BOSTON, Nov. 18 — President Roosevelt said today that "free exchange of ideas through regional discussion" throughout the nation could aid in the conduct of the war and preparation for a better post-war world.

Praising "the initiative" of New England, the President declared that civilian defense measures instituted in that area already had become "a model for the nation."

Mr. Roosevelt asserted in a message prepared for presentation to the first New England war conference, sponsored by the New England council and the governors of the six states:

"I should like to see this war conference so successful that New England again will have offered a model to the nation."

In a tribute to the president, Ralph E. Flanders, Vermont industrialist and retiring president of the council, said the responsibility for the top strategy in this war rested "solely in the hands of the President and the advisor whom he selected."

"The events of the past few days reveal," he added, "the excellence of that top strategy as it has been worked out in the dark and uncertain months which are behind us. We stand today solidly behind the commander-in-chief of our Army and Navy."

Keep Coffee Cool Expert Says As Rationing Nears

By Associated Press
TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Keep your coffee cool in the refrigerator, says an expert, as rationing of coffee goes further than rationing of other goods, housewives are urged to make rationed coffee last longer, Mary E. Jones, a demonstration agent for the agricultural extension service, is making a rationing plan of a five-week plan for each household. The average used five years, she said, but it need not be that long. Results to us if we use and manage well," Miss Jones declared. She offered the following pointers:

1. Keep your coffee in a tightly covered container.
2. Keep coffee in a refrigerator or some cool place.
3. Keep your coffee pot clean. Wash, scald and air it after each use.
4. Have your coffee ground as fine as possible for the kind of pot you intend to use. Finely ground coffee goes further than coarsely ground coffee.
5. Measure coffee accurately—use level and not heaping spoonfuls.
6. Learn to make coffee properly. Boiling drives off the very elements you want and causes that grand coffee aroma to be lost.
7. Serve the coffee as soon as it is made.
8. Make only the exact amount you want to use. Left-over coffee is nearly always wasted.

CONVICTED IN SHOOTING

By The Associated Press
HAMILTON, O., Nov. 18—John Kennedy, 36, a restaurant operator, was convicted of second degree murder in the shooting of Dillard Peters, 20.

Inner lids made of a paper composition have been invented to make air tight seals for coffee jars used for holding ground coffee when the metal lids are screwed down.

BLOCK DEFENSE PLAN WINS WIDE ACCLAIM

Neighborhood Parley Leads To New System

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND—Albert I. Cornsweet, president of the Cleveland City Club, started something when he called together the neighbors in his block in a swanky Shaker Heights to talk over ways of aiding the war effort.

Since that first get-together some weeks ago, the neighbors have met regularly to discuss and plan participation in civilian defense, blood donor, scrap salvage, grease saving and other war programs.

The meetings have become known as the "block plan" of civilian mobilization, and Mayor J. Lausche said they're going to set a pattern for civilian throughout the nation.

Director James M. Landis of the office of civilian defense will place the plan on a national basis in a broadcast on the first anniversary of Pearl Harbor, which has been designated as "M" day for civilians on the home front. Lausche said he had been advised.

Cornsweet's plan won him membership on the regional OGD's planning committee and his idea was passed on to Landis by Mayor Lausche, who expressed deep gratification that the plan had been adopted for national use.

Ohio Job Office Places 289,479 Workers in 1941

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18—Ohio employment offices, spurred by demands from rapidly expanding defense industries, placed a record-breaking 289,479 persons in jobs in 1941.

Administrator H. C. Atkinson of the bureau of unemployment compensation, in his annual report to Gov. Bricker, said the job placement volume was nearly three-fifths greater than in 1940. He attributed the increase to the defense boom, citing these figures:

Placements of 53,733 men in manufacturing plants which was twice the 1940 total; plant jobs for 18,459 women, 69 per cent above the previous year, and an increase of 200 per cent in the number of jobs for men in utility industries. The employment boom, Atkinson said, sent contributions from employees and employers to a new high and likewise dropped jobless benefit payments to a record low.

Sees Natural Rubber Replaced by Synthetic

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8—A. B. F. Goodrich Co. chemist declared today that synthetic rubber would successfully challenge the national product and predicted that within two years after Pearl Harbor 90 per cent of the nation's rubber goods would be synthetic. "Synthetic rubber is certainly here to stay," Dr. Robert V. Yehle of the Goodrich chemical division told a regional conference of the farm chemurgic council. "The development of ever-rising quality and lower cost in synthetic rubber products will present a challenge to mother nature which she won't be able to meet."

Dr. Yehle said that tires of 99.84 per cent synthetic content were being tested on highways now. Under some conditions, these wear better than natural rubber, he said, although "difficult problems" remain in truck and bus tires.

U. S. ACTS TO AVERT SHORTAGE OF MILK

Special Inducements Considered To Keep Up Supply.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Special inducements to stimulate milk production may be offered dairymen if no other means is found of averting a threatened shortage.

Government food agencies, faced with the possible need of rationing principal dairy products because of rising war demands, debated proposals to offer such incentives as federal subsidies or higher prices.

The latter method would involve raising the price ceiling established by the office of price administration at President Roosevelt's direction early in October.

Subsidies, on the other hand, would require between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 a year in federal funds. This estimate was made by dairy officials of the agriculture department who asked that they not be quoted.

Regardless of whether special inducements are offered, the production of milk and dairy products in 1944 is expected by Secretary of Agriculture, Wickard, to fall short of requirements of the armed forces, the lend-lease program, and civilians.

Agriculture department dairy officials said restrictions on civilian consumption probably would be less severe if dairymen were offered higher returns.

The question of whether special inducements should be offered may be submitted finally to Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes for settlement.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home
A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!
Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get from your druggist 24 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes

PETAIN MAKES LAVAL DICTATOR OF FRANCE
Premier Takes Full Control, Backed by Nazi Bayonets.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Backed by German bayonets, Pierre Laval held powers of life and death over the people of unhappy France today through the Vichy government's latest gesture toward the Nazi conquerors.

It was disclosed last night that Marshal Petain at a Tuesday cabinet meeting designated the swarthy little Germanophile his heir as chief of state and gave him full powers to write his own laws and decrees.

The Paris radio said Laval would transfer the government to Paris.

British political observers were quick to declare that extended powers for Laval—whose fortunes, and very life were pinned to his often affirmed belief in an ultimate axis triumph—were a "last ditch" development. They said it showed definitely that the action was in the hands of the Germans and not Laval.

In the official Vichy announcement, the 86-year-old marshal, praised Laval for "patriotism and foresight," explained that the chief of government was being given extended power so that he may "speedily deal at any hour and in all places" with France's problems.

Cancelling a previous decree which had designated Admiral Jean Darlan, now cooperating with the allies in Africa, as his successor, Petain named Laval to take over as chief of state in the event of the marshal's permanent incapacity.

A Vichy communique on the action, reported by the Berlin radio, said that Petain "as chief of state will continue to represent French sovereignty and the continued existence of the country" and added that Laval would "keep the marshal constantly informed" of his endeavors.

Of most immediate concern to the allies was the course Laval plans to steer in the matter of possible military aid to the axis.

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 15 — Requiem mass for Joseph Galluzzo, 86, retired Delaware grocer and confectioner who died Tuesday in the home of his son, Anthony Galluzzo of Delaware, will be solemnized Friday at 9 a. m. in St. Mary Catholic church. LINCOLN SAYS FARM PRICES NOW GOOD Declares Producers Ought To Be Satisfied.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—Farmers "ought to be pretty well satisfied with present prices" and should guard against programs which may lead to inflation, says Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Lincoln told the federation's annual convention yesterday that "farm prices for needed products are good, the feeding ratio is good."

"To avoid inflation we must take the retarding steps now," he declared. "People don't seem to realize how their every-day decisions lay the groundwork that may lead to inflation—present day action of industry to make bigger profits, labor to get higher wages, farmers to get higher prices."

Perry L. Green, president of the federation, criticized the unwillingness of "class" groups to merge their own personal interests with the common interests of all.

"I need only to call your attention to the conflicts which have been going on in Washington between industry and labor, agriculture and labor, agriculture and industry," he commented.

"It will be this unwillingness to merge material interests with the social interests of the people—the common man—that may prevent us from winning the peace, even if we win the war."

John Carroll of St. Clairsville and W. D. Galehouse of Marshallville were elected trustees. Trustees reflected included R. E. Campbell, Wellington; B. S. Van Gordon, Hamilton; and Mrs. C. R. Minor, Pickerington.

When Lincoln's body lay in state here, Schorndorfer was threatened with beatings because of his previous friendliness toward Booth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Senter of 630 South Prospect street have received news of the healthy appetite of their son who is in service in India. In the C. B. I. Roundup, the camp paper, there is the following paragraph:
"It is true the fellows really miss home's tempting apple pie and those double milked from the corn-soot flour, but if you think for a minute these fellows are being taken care of you should have seen Staff Sgt. Harold Senter this-away four orders of hot cakes at a coast town cafe Sunday night."

Among other interesting items in a column in which an American corporal tells all about India, are these:
"Mixing down a dirt street in India is more like traveling down a business street in Tobacco Road, for between driving donkey and ox carts, camel caravans, horse and bicycles and Sacred Cows, the soldiers have little time for a 'Ben Lear Yee-ho' or a quint at a dirt-eved inn or living, passing here or there.
One thing the Yanks can't conceive as yet is the fact that the Sacred Cows are allowed to plod
the city streets, blocking up traffic.

... while as yet he hasn't been able to find a 'Greasy Spoon' or the like in the way of a hem-burian stand.
Come the advent of the Christmas season many of the faithful gals on the waiting list back home will be doing a bit of 'be-necked' Mithuna Gandhi, and will be sure to tell everyone how Johnny has now promised never to look at another platinum blonde — fact is Johnny can't locate a platinum blonde in all India and his abstinence is due to even the fact of a blonde, henka variety.
Discussing the screen fare of India, the columnist writes:
"The new reel for one night might consist of the Boy Scout bandages of 1937 to 'Washington, the marriage of Mary Pickford, and Buddy Rogers, or you might get a late flash from the invasion of Manchuria."
A comedy sketch of Ben Turpin variety or Charlie Chaplin is shown, at which the Indians nearly split a side laughing and you nearly split a side laughing at the Indians laughing at a comedy which you saw in your high school days.
Another columnist in the paper gives an idea of the library selections as follows:
"The library has a fair collection of books, practically anything you want to read — if one is not addicted current prices of around 30 cents a pound for pulch, law-weight, is quite more than five cents a pound higher than in this city. This is a good income to local growers will approximate

$50,000.

MURDER on the Amplio

By JERRY
BRONFIELD

Amplio for 12. Magruder went for 13 on a reverse and on the first play of the next sequence Magruder found him, and he jetted the ball 30 yards, originally in the direction of the left end, who took it on the dead run and raced the remaining 20 yards unopposed. Magruder converted and Michigan led, 7-0 in the first minute and a half of play.

It was a stunning start but Luttrell, confident, encouraging, pepped 'em up in the next kick-off.

"Okay, Johnny... Chuck... Andy, boy... let's get it back and another for good measure."

It wasn't quite that easy. Michigan seemed to settle down and wait for a break, meanwhile riddling up everything. State tied, 7-7. Magruder went into the end zone, off the tackle, but they got him here. He tried Eddie on the corner, but deep reverse and saw a striking Dutchman murder the play. He took to the air and tried to connect to Bert Elliott or Eddie but his receivers were covered with a blanket of blue-shirted defenders.

Todd spent his face during a time-out and took deep breaths. He looked up at the crowd. There were a couple of gentlemen named Talbot and C. C. Somers were up there hoping for a tie. That Talbot guy—a duck one.

"You're bound to find yourself in a beautiful spot to come through for us. Yet wait and see. Talbot had moved over the telephone. I'll be so easy you won't be able to resist. Twenty-five hundred buses, Malone, and we'll be the game. Easy judges too. Just call one wrong, or maybe drop a punt... or maybe you aren't a catcher, Malone."

The referee came over and told Eddie that time was in. Late in the second quarter Dutch fumbled on his own 35 and Michigan went into high gear again, smashing through for a first down on three plays. The Magruder, coming out of a ball play, lobbed the ball to Glenn. Glenn fired one far from the field.

Amplio parlayed. State was a receiver get behind Todd. Todd turned the ball but the Michigan receiver was not over. With a cutting touchdown, a duck one, dropped the ball.

A great catch of red and rolled up. "Boy, was Malone lucky. This someone in front of Susan and Todd just didn't see that red-tail. Susan told herself. He just didn't."

State held for downs and the had ended.

Fast Going

Stalin wasn't much interested in the half-time ceremony, the cheering queen and her court and the special band numbers. She tapped her coffee and the light of the near-stalled down pass. That went over Todd's head.

Pete Bailey fanned 'em up between halves. "Let's get one quick," Eddie said to Todd and Todd nodded, his mouth tight.

Todd almost got it by himself. After an exchange of punts he dashed through a cut and for 25, breaking into the end, but a charging tackle brought him down. He punted it through the middle with Andy. But he and then passed to Elliott for 15.

He faded back for another pass and then executed his favorite option. His receivers were covered and the Michigan linemen came in too fast. Todd took off as seen the end and tackle, streaked out wide and cut in. Someone set up a good block for him downfield. Todd reversed his field, chomped off two Michigan men and went a lot of the way untouched. There was bedlam as he led the score a few seconds later.

"This is working, full. Eddie shouted to Todd, slapping him on the back.

It stilled Todd "... Trying it up..."

Michigan broke the five minute later. Cassady tried the State line wide apart. He was a 200-pounder with vicious drive. He ate up 40 yards in four attempts, and then Magruder, taking it on a beautiful State of Liberty, went 10 yards around State and for the touchdown.

Chuck Stalin exploded through to blue. Magruder's conversion attempt and the score was 13-7.

Bailey rushed in reserves but the State line weakened first. Pushed back to the 25, Todd punted on second down.

"Hey, what's the idea...?" a man in front of Susan shouted. "You can't win that way..."

Luttrell was a demon, sagging up and down behind the State line, slapping, coughing, beating.

$2,500 For A Tie.

Ten minutes left. Fight Five Todd looked at the clock. He called a wide sweep for Luttrell and went out and cut down the Michigan end. But the tackle sifted through and broke it up.

"Give us some blocking," Todd pleaded in the huddle. He called for his own number on the next play and cut back over tackle. Johnny Harris slanted through ahead of him. Someone hit him from the side. Todd stumbled, fought his way into the secondary for 15 more yards before they ganged up on him.

Todd completed a pass to Elliott for 10 and they were down to the Michigan 15. Two minutes to go.

Todd gave it to Bill Cartwright on the first play and Bill got two. Then Andy took it on a cross buck, ploughed to the right. Todd called a quarterback sneak and almost made it but they paled him up on the three. It was a first down.

"Your's Andy," Todd panted. The lines smashed together, locked. Andy exploded through, got knocked down on the two. Once more. No gain. Todd got up, a sharp pain in his right leg.

A minute left. He hobbled around for a few seconds and Eddie called for time.

"It's okay," Todd said but pain was intense.

They set up the play while time was out. "Third and two, Andy. It's now or never," Todd said.

Wall Street Cotton Queen

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Features Writer

NEW YORK—To Mae Daly cotton means more than curtains of clothes.

It means a bigtime job in a big town. Success at the top of a long steep climb between a Missouri farm and downtown New York.

The New York Cotton Exchange has just made Mae Daly its first woman executive. Assistant secretary. Its officials think she probably is the first woman executive in any major exchange in the country.

Mae Daly is what turn-of-the-century became used to call "a fine figure of a woman." Dark eyes. Dark hair. Red cheeks. A warm but shy smile. She loves to work, and says so. That's about all she wants to say. Otherwise, she talks of herself with about the same ease as a boy speaking his first place at school.

On Job Nine Years

She came to the Exchange nine years ago. She started with various committees in a semi-regular capacity. Gradually the scope of her work increased. In her new job she will come more closely in contact with the public and with members of the exchange. She will supervise women employees and record the minutes for all meetings.

Modern, self-spoken Mae Daly thinks women could match men in business.

"They certainly do not now," she says. "But they have the capacity. It's the experience they lack. Women simply have not had the opportunity. But things are changing in that respect."

"Women are better investors now than they ever have been in business. They own more than half the wealth in this country—not just because they have inherited it, but because they have good business heads too. They are good traders. They have common sense and they are not easily swayed. They give a good deal of attention to detail and that is a strength in investing. Investments. It means they get most any place in business."

"But women will always defer to men. We have for years. They have always been the business wizards."

Dreams Come True

Years ago when Mae Daly used to watch the flyer racing through the dust to Kansas City, she dreamed of being a business woman in New York. After she was graduated from high school she started on her way. As a stepping stone she used a retail and other office jobs in her home town (Richmond, Mo.), Kansas City and Chicago, plus some work at night school.

Eventually she reached New York. She landed a job with the Bankers Commercial Security Company, made arrangements to share a Bronx apartment with some girl, and went to work. The next year was one of the hardest in her life. Words like "housekeeper" gave her Missouri shorthand the fitter, and the subway rush gave her nervous indigestion. She used to stand aside on the platform to let other people pass into the car first—but the train got over that. After a year she broke down and had to go home for a rest. But when she recovered she returned and landed the job with the Cotton Exchange.

Now she lives in a small apartment with a woman friend who takes over all the household cares. Her amusements are bridge and the movies. Every night when the weather is good she walks home—an hour and a quarter stretch. She does most of her thinking and planning then.

"Any problem which troubles me when I start," she says, "is generally ironed out when I reach home."

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"I AM at your service for anything," I told my father. "I know that, Dearest," he said tenderly.

"I believe you told me that when the blizzard-looking old man in the cafe asked where you could be reached by telephone, you gave him the Underwood number," he said.

"Then," he directed, "I wish you to go stay at the Underwood house until you hear from that man."

"I shall stay at the Underwood house myself tonight, if you have not heard from the man," he said. "But I have a strong intuition that he will call you within a few hours. When he does I wish you to make an appointment for him to come here at the earliest possible hour. I do not want him to suspect my presence, but I will be in the next suite, with that commotion door slightly ajar so that I can hear what goes on."

"I am hoping," he went on gravely, "that he is some tried friend of George's who can give us a clue to his whereabouts."

"Information which came to me only a little while ago," he phrased the terrible peril in which George stands if he is in this country.

"Yes," his voice now sterner, "the fiends whose machinations are threatening Olga and her daughter, as well as George, are diabolically cunning. It may very well be that this strange-looking old man you met at the restaurant is one of the plotters, trying to worm his way into your confidence. I shall be at hand with Adams to guard you."

"I am not afraid," I said steadily and truthfully. But four hours later, having sped Lillian and Miss Whitlock on their way to the farm, and bidden a repentant Carolyn a tender adieu as she started with Ronald and Dickey for Weirhampton, as I sat with Harry in the suddenly lonely library, I shook with nervousness when the telephone rang, and I heard Harry say, "Yes, Mrs. Graham is here. She will speak with you."

Then I heard, in the deep, resonant voice of the old man at the cafe, an agitated question.

"Madame Graham? The time has come when I must see you. I hope you have not rescinded your gracious promise to hear what I have to say."

"No, indeed," I told him promptly. "I can see you in an hour from now at the Hotel Lansfield," and I gave him the street and number of the hotel.

Promises To Come
"Do not go to the desk," I cautioned. "Take the elevator to the floor and come to this number."

He repeated the address and suite number, then added quickly: "I will be there in an hour. Good-bye. I dare not stay here longer." "I shall have to call, Father," I said, "then go back to the hotel as soon as Father sends the car." "Was that the Father Christmas guy?" Harry asked.

"Yes," I answered, surprised. "You know about him?"

"I know everything, Lady Fair," he said with a grin smile. "Now take my advice and watch your step, or rather him, every second of the time you're talking to him. He doesn't ring true to me, that lad."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Development of Children

THE two-year-old baby has advanced quite a way along the road of life. It began as a little animal that could not even pull over or raise its head, and can now stand and walk alone, grasp objects, do things—not very purposefully—on its hands; it can see and focus, and has learned to coordinate the movements of both eyes; it can hear, tell what direction a sound is coming from, and even knows the significance of a few sounds.

Eating training at two years old should have progressed to the place where the baby comes to the table hungry.

He will feed himself, clumsily and spilling a good deal, but making to get quite a lot into the mouth. He may tire from the effort in the middle of the meal and have to be helped in order to get all he should have.

Toilet training should begin to bring results at about the age of two. Parents, as a rule, expect too much of children about this. They should not make an issue of it at any time nor inflict punishments.

The average 18-month child cannot be expected to take much responsibility. It is up to the mother to see that he gets to the toilet in time. He will have many accidents, but by 18 months should have a hazy idea of what is expected of him. From then on the normal child learns rapidly. By four years, however, any child should take full responsibility for his toilet needs.

Social contacts and cooperation are of slow growth. The two-year-old plays by himself. You see two two-year-olds on opposite sides of a sand pile. They are playing, but not playing together. At four they play together, even in groups, but only for a few minutes at a time. Then they rest, do something by themselves, but are soon ready at someone's suggestion to start a new game.

Children's relations with adults depend more on the adults than they do on the children. A very bad behavior sign is the development of negativism—the child who says "no" to everything—to requests to wash his hands, to eat dinner, to get undressed for bed. A variant of it is the "I'll do it in a minute." A normal child is independent—does necessary duties without being told, but has little negativism.

Language development is very variable and hardly any standard for what is normal can be set up. It is quite well established from many child psychology studies that girls are more advanced in speech than boys. Also that environmental influences have a great deal to do with speech development. The number of different places a child has been, the kind of speech he hears at home, the variety of the things he does—all influence language development. The ages of two, three and four are three during which his speech develops and he learns that language is a tool to get him what he needs.

Nor does language development stop just when a child ceases baby talk and begins to make sentences. You, my adult friend, have stopped dead in your development unless you have learned to use at least one new word a month—no matter how old you are.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Nov. 30

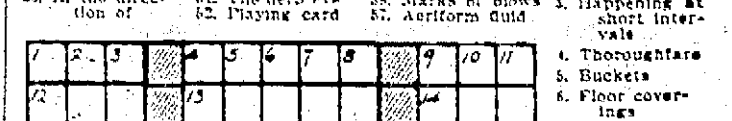

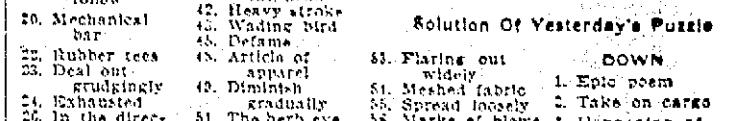

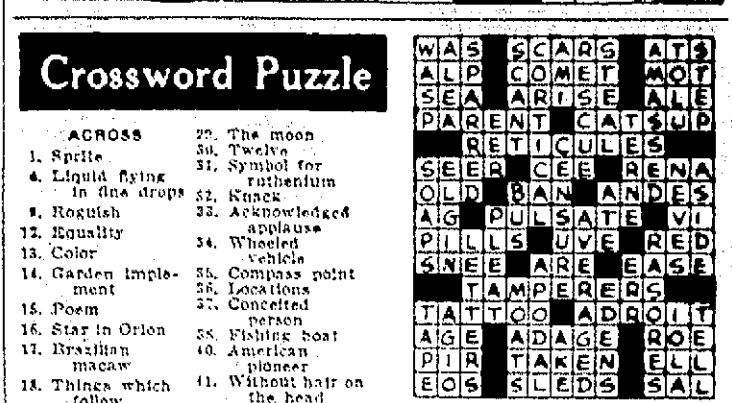

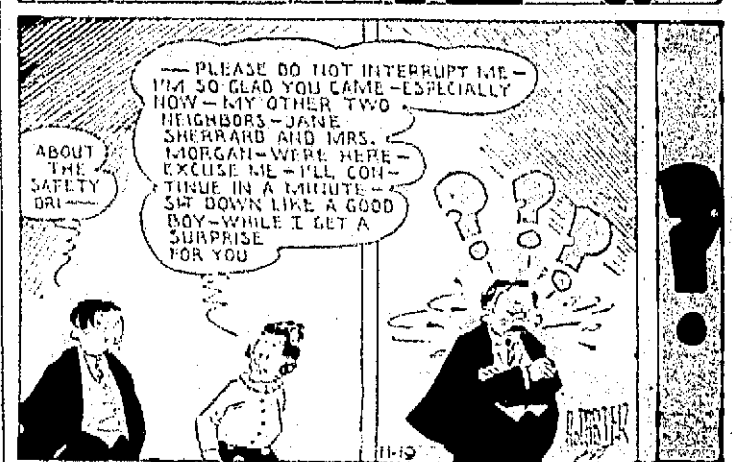

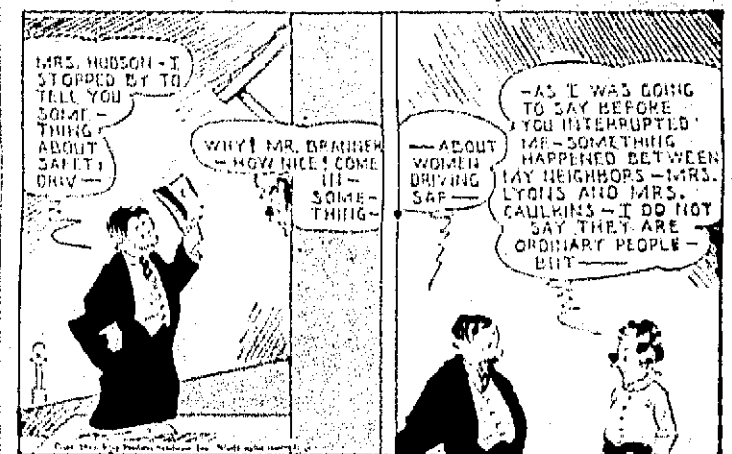

A CONSERVATIVE and systematic course of conduct may turn this day's woes and worries into lucrative and pleasant channels of a surprisingly constructive quality. This mainly by guarding the tongue, temper, emotions and other forms of indulgence or excess, while at the same time paying strict attention to all responsibilities.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of definite gain and advancement by pursuing a tactful, vigilant and conservative program, with the use of sound reason and the concentration of the resources and energies into lucrative channels. Where duty or obligation calls attend with warmth, generosity and sincerity.

A child born on this day, while being endowed with excellent talents and resources, may be prone to squander his energies and substance in impulsive efforts.
